Dear Dr. Borst:

Professor Jim Darnell has mentioned your name to me as a colleague who is turning his interests towards the molecular biology of parasitic protozoans. We are beginning to address the problem of the extension and maintenance of the research programs at the Rockefeller University in the application of modern biological approaches to parasitic diseases. I would be most interested to get your views and advice on the opportunities in this area with particular reference to the names of promising personalities. In addition, I would be grateful if you could send me reprints of your own recent publications in this field.

yours sincerely

Joshua Lederberg
